

SNAXPO 23

MARCH 19-21, 2023

Orlando, Florida

Startup Incentive Program

SNAC International will provide reimbursement of up to $500 to cover hotel lodging and $500 to cover transportation costs, as well as a $600 discount on the registration fee (discounted registration fee equals $295), for up to two individuals per snack company. The program is available to those nominated by SNAC members on a very limited, first-come, first-served basis and according to the conditions below. All participants are subject to final approval by SNAC International. The final deadline to be accepted into the program is February 26, 2023.

Note: Attendees must make their own hotel and flight arrangements. Travel reimbursements will be provided after SNAXPO concludes. Reimbursement is contingent upon registrant attending the event and providing receipts for travel. Refunds will not be provided if attendees need to cancel last-minute.

Conditions:

- Company must be a producer of snacks
- Participants must register at the discounted registration price of $295.
- Company has not attended SNX 2022 or SNAXPO 2021.
- Attendee must participate in all scheduled networking, education, and exhibit hall hours at SNAXPO.
- Can be a member or nonmember of SNAC International
- Acceptance into program is dependent on role within company. Attendee must be mid-to-senior level staff; key functional leaders from operations, procurement, sales/marketing preferred.

Why Attend?

- Source innovations for every aspect of the market with a full equipment exhibit hall that brings together suppliers, producers, innovators and game-changers from the entire snack supply chain;
- Uncover what today's and tomorrow's snack consumer wants, stay ahead of trends that are shifting the industry, and learn about the top issues that could impact your business through a comprehensive educational program;
- Create tomorrow's next snacking craze by meeting with flavor and ingredient suppliers, as well as product development specialists and co-manufacturers.
- Connect with snack industry leaders from around the world.

Join your peers for two high-value days of inspiration, innovation, and industry solutions that will help you turn your next big idea into a big success. Visit www.snaxpo.com for more information.
